They presented a very ragged, poverty-stricken book. The man has papers in his possession giving a description of the burning of Alexandria on the 11th of June and, like the other party of vagabonds, claim that they were waitly before the late war in Egypt. The family called to see the Turkish Minister this morning to ask for help. The gypsies that were in the Police Court several days ago have been sent to Richmend, Va. They were at first sent from New York to Philadelphia and then to Baltimore and Washington, Reports show that they are several hundred of these wrethed people rozaning over the country, all claiming that they were ruined by the Egyptian war.

All Saints' Day.

Te-day was observed and appropriately celebrated by the Church of England and throughtout the Catholic world as all Saints' Day, or, as the designation implies, the day consecrated to the commemoration of all the saints to whom separate days of the occlesiastic year have not been assigned as devoted to their especial rememberance and glorification. At st. Matthew's Church there will be grand selemn vespers at 7:30 p. m., and Rev. P. L. Chapelle, D. D., pastor of the church, will deliver a sermon during the service, At the Church of the Incarnation choral services by the full cloff will be rendered at 6:30 o'clock p. m. Appropriate services will also be held at the other Catholic churches in this city. The obsarvance of this day will be followed by that of All Souls' Day, the day consecrated to the memory of the dead and departed, whose graves it is customary to visit and to embellish with the tributes that heart and hand may be ready to bestow. A sacred custom makes the lighting of candles, oil-lamps and other lights significant of the lying memory of the departed an essential feature of these tokens of remembrance.

How to Become Rich Suddenly.

In the quiet hours of reflection when a man sits down and reflects upon the seemingly uneven distribution of wealth in this country, and even all countries, it causes a dismal attack of blues to pervade the epigastrium of one who is ignorant where the supply of food for himself and family is to come from for the morrow. He thinks over the millions accredited to Vanderbilt, Gould, Keene, Stewart, Wanamaker, Lorillard and many others whose names are as familiar as household words. He sighs for sudden wealth, and in his desparaction would stop at no extremity, however desperate, to have even the tille of riches the more fortunate seem to despise. He overholds can be actively a fact made known to overhold for earlierly a fact made known to overhold for earlierly a fact made known to fortunate seem to be sufficient to the press, that the Loudsiana State Lottery Company at New Orieans, La, on the second Tuesday of every month distributes hundreds of thousands of dollars in princely fortunes to applicants to M. Stophanson, rushed to the spot, but before he reached there the cries had ceased, and he was about to return for help to secure the body, supposing that one more heart-broken lemals had ended her woes by drowning, when he saw the body rise to the sarface of the water. The Captain jumped overboard and hauled her to the wharf, apparently in a lifeless state.

He sent immediately for a barrel and placed the woman across if, and after vigorous shaking she showed signs of life, and finally recovered. She was retained at the wharf until she could talk, when she was taken by river men to her house on C street, between Tweith and Thirteenth northwest. The girl gave her name as Molly, and said that her lover descriing her caused her to do the act. After the lad completely recovered she attempted several times to run to the fiver, saying she wanted to die and denounced the men for saying her.

The question, he said, was one which was of the utmost importance not only to the patent atterneys, but to the District, and it was manifestly destrable to have it determined once and forever by the highest authorities. With this view Mr. Davidge had held a consultation with Mr. Trancis Miller and agreed that one of the cases should be taken up and action in the others deferred until the one was settled. He would request the fourt to accept an admission of the facts and certify the case to the Criminal Court on the question of law involved. No time would be lost in bringing the case to the attention of the Court in Banc. The personal bonds of the numerous defendants were taken, and the action suggested was agreed upon.

"Viva" is a bright, picturesque play, which deals with the fortunes of two wandering italian stroot singers brother and sister, who are impersonated by Louis and Alice Harrison, respectively. It is admirably adapted to the special line in which the Harrisons have wen their reputations, and white full of comic opportunities, abounds in pathetic touches and strong situations, which appeal to the deeper emotions and keep the sympathy and interest of the andience enlisted to the onl. The warm italian coloring and alterations of sunshine and standards and effective manner, and are calculated to give the play more than ordinary popularity. Miss Alice Harrison is a remarkably bright actrees, and, shows that she can take higher and stronger flights than even her just successes in other roles could have bed her friends to anticipate. The same may be said of Mr. Louis Harrison, whose impersonation of Carlo evidenced drammite force and alent in a character that would be trying to even the most experienced interpreter of interess situations. The songs, dances and delightful drolleries for which the Harrisons are famous are introduced at appropriate points, and give additional brightness to the performance.

Dr. Hammelt was called to the much frightenest young man and gave him the necessary medical attention.

The new yow of houses being built on E between Tenth and Eleventh streets by Mr. John A. Stephenson and Mr. George White, at the firm of George White & Co., the well known from manufacturers of South Washington, are nearly completed. The houses are two stories high, built of bries, and have all of the modern improvements. The houses are very neat in appearance, and will add much to the appearance of this portion of the city. Every house in the row has already been rented.

The following is the whart report for yester.

Immense quantities of lumber are piled along the different wharves, most of it yellow pine, from the Southern States.

The tracks of the Baitmore & Fotomac Rail-along the different wharves, most of it yellow plue, from the Southern States.

The tracks of the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad on Maryland avenue are so crowded with cars that vehicles are often greatly delayed. Frequently a long loaded freight train will be run across one of the Intersecting streets and allowed to remain thors with a supreme contempt for the public convenience.

There is no place in Washington where purer butter and mik can be bought than at the Mount Vernon dairy, corner of Twelfth and Catrests southwest. Fresh arrivals systemal times a day from the country.

The well-known Johnny Clark and not Mr. Lawrence clark, as published in the South Washington column yesterday, is the father of the blouncing girl baby born at the foot of Seventh street. Mr. Lawrence Clark is the father of the little one and was much annoyed at the mistake.

All thoughtful housekeepers are now busy preparing for the winter. It would be well for those in need of a stove to call on J. W. Barket at Nos. 401 and 403 Seventh street southwest.

Mr. Owen Carrol purchased, one say this week, two very fine cows and one helder for $40. This looks as if the retail pries of beef, in this locality at least, should be greatly reduced.

To-day's Stock Quotations. The following observations of the trans-tions in the financial market to-day, togeth with opening and closing quotations, are for nished by the banking-house of H. D. Cool ir., & Co., 1429 F street, Washington, D. C.;

Another Case of a Fresh Policeman. This morning a party of genile and, after taking lunch at Godirey's, were conversing on the corner for a few moments, prior to parting, in a very quiet and orderly manner. A policeman, who patrols that beat, came up and ordered them away. Proceeding on their way down the Avenue, the most unearthly notes was heard from the direction of the old Norolles, on their arrival they found a man yelling murder lustily. His head was cut and liesding profusely. From what could be learned from his broken English and French, he claimed to have been robbed and elected from one of the neighboring salions, but I more likely he held and hurt himself, as he was very drunk. After yelling for at least an hour and a hair a policeman came and essorted this to the Tenthstreet station. The gentlemen were standing on the corner at Harvoy's discussing the effair, when the same policeman who ordered them away from Thirteenth and B streets came up and admonished them that he could have them thing two yources away. The question is, where was he when the injured man was yelling?

The scandalous story in circulation in fast Washington this morning concerning an officer of the Eighth Freeinct is pronounced entirely untrue by his friends. It is evidently a canard started by the officer's coomies.
